

NOTICE

All students enrolled in the Advanced Algorithms course are hereby reminded that the upcoming class test on Wednesday, June 5th, is a formal academic assessment governed by the university's highest standards of integrity. Cheating, unauthorized collaboration, possession of prohibited materials, or use of any digital assistance tools (such as AI-based chatbots or calculators unless explicitly allowed) will result in instant disqualification and referral to the academic disciplinary board. Surveillance cameras and live invigilation will be in full operation, and logs will be reviewed post-exam.

This is not a test you can casually attempt. You are expected to arrive at least 15 minutes early, be seated according to the pre-assigned roll number layout, and bring only permitted stationery. Late entry beyond 10 minutes will not be allowed. Any whispering, note passing, or unverified document use will be treated as intent to violate test conduct. We are not just assessing your knowledge—we are assessing your academic character. Take this seriously, because we will.
